4. Candidates are to be instructed by the Examiners that they are not to sign their names to the papers, but to use instead, a number which will be allotted to each candidate, by the Registrar, before the examination.

5. The papers, when returned to the Examiner, are to be by him examined, and the relative value thereof marked by means of numbers, from 0 to 100, in the Schedule which will be furnished him by the Registrar.

Neither signature, number nor sign is to be written or marked upon any of the sheets enclosed in said envelope.
